Markets Churn About As Effect of New U.S. Policies Are Gauged

Many Traders Awaiting Clearer Indications of Effects of Inflationary Moves Contemplated By President Roosevelt

Canadians Are Closely Watching

Canadian Press and Associated Press
New York, April 21.—North American financial markets hesitated and churned about uncertainty to-day, after the spectacular advances of the last two sessions.

Heavy profit-taking appeared in stocks and in raw staples, but it was in a large measure offset by fresh buying. Many traders showed an inclination to await clearer indications of the effects of proposed inflationary steps.

The United States dollar slowed up in foreign exchange dealings. The pound sterling and the Canadian dollar were down from the opening.

BOND MARKET

The flight of funds from highest grade bonds into equities and staples seemed to have been checked. The bond market was extremely active, with the largest turnover in the first hour in three years.

The New York stock market was a mixed affair. Buils gave rails a whiff in early dealings, sending several up $1 to more than $5, but some of these gains were lost, and a number of the industrial and utility decliners to $1 to under yesterday's figures. Trading was still active, although failing to reach yesterday's frenzied pace.

In commodities, wheat declined about a cent a bushel at Winnipeg and Chicago, then recovered. Cotton pushed 75 to 90 cents a bale, only to lose part of its gain. Hides, rubber and sugar were irregular.

Silver future encountered active profit-taking, and lost about a cent an ounce, after the upswing of about six cents in the past two days.

TRADING IN LONDON

London, April 21.—Prices on the London Stock Exchange closed with a better tone after registering slight recoveries from the lowest levels of the session. Transatlantic issues, which were near their morning levels, recorded good gains, while gold mining shares were weak exceptions, finishing easy on the lower gold price and higher franc exchange.

Dr. J. E. Mason, Ship's Surgeon, Saved Girl's Life After Leaving Honolulu

Lady Angela St. Clair Erskine, Noted Author, Volunteered as Nurse

Two days out from Honolulu, bound for Victoria, the liner Aorangi was slowed down for nine minutes while an operation for appendicitis was performed on a nine-year-old girl traveling with her mother from Melbourne to her home in Toronto.

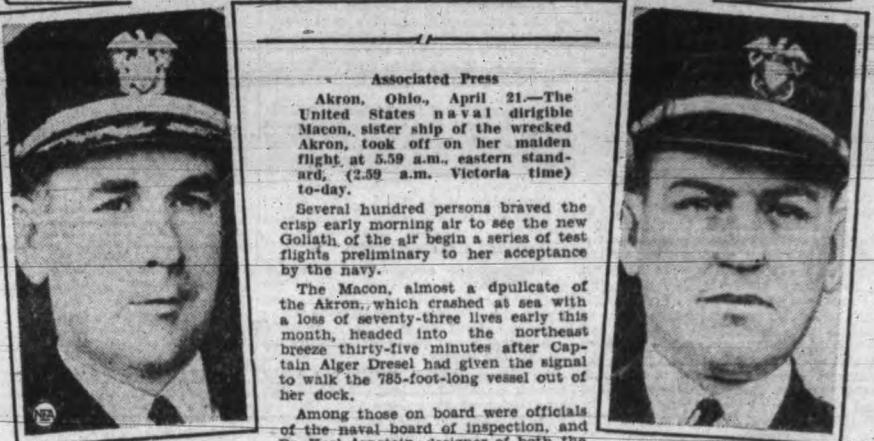

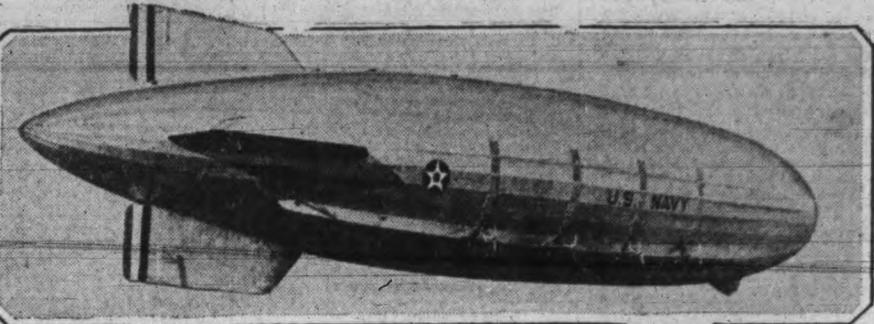

Dr. J. E. Mason, late of Edmonton, on his first trip as ship's surgeon, worked against time and the young patient is well on the road to recovery.

Lady Angela St. Clair Erskine, well-known English authoress, who had four years of experience in France during the war, volunteered her assistance in the delicate operation but her services were not required as Miss Marie Maher, a young Australian nurse en route to Victoria on a visit, was already preparing bandages and laying out the surgical instruments.

WRITER OF NOTE
Lady Angela, whose recent publication, "Fore and Aft," has commanded a wide sale, left England in mid-January to escape the winter season, spending the last few months in New Zealand, for which country she has high praise. Lady Angela is an enthusiastic angler and having heard of the famous Tye fishing at Campbell River, intends to return to the Columbia next year and qualify for the coveted gold medal of the world-known Tye Club.

HINDU CASE STOOD OVER

Week's Remand For Six Men Charged With Wounding Countryman

While Nama Singh appeared to have passed the critical point in his fight for life against injuries allegedly sustained in a gang assault Tuesday night, legal forces were lining up for what may be a prolonged court struggle in the case of six other Hindus charged with participation in the affair. Summary trial was refused by A. J. Paton, who is acting with Stuart Henderson for the accused men, when they appeared for another formal remand of one week in the City Police Court this morning. The preliminary hearing will be held when it is able to move to his hospital bed and testify, as he will be the main witness for the prosecution.

The six men now charged are: Gian Singh, Sundar Singh, Hurdil Singh, Gurdev Singh, Brims and Mehta. Three of them are venerable, turbans and long beards. The others are shaved with short hair, but all have moustaches. In the Sikh religion the cutting of the hair has a certain significance.

England's great cricket team, chosen from all parts of the Old Country, and sponsored by the Marylebone Cricket Club, parent organization of cricket, received a warm but quiet welcome from Victoria to-day as the famous players, winners of the mythical "Ashes," emblematic of world supremacy in their sport, arrived at the Outer Wharf aboard the Ms. Aorangi.

Cricket enthusiasts of Victoria, many of whom had journeyed to the dock at 7 o'clock, when the ship was expected to arrive, were assembled in force as the big green and white liner pulled into her berth. The crowd, busily engaged in one-half's stay here.

Members of the famous team were gathered on deck, introduced to leaders in the sport here, and whisked around the city on short sight-seeing drives.

They were enthusiastic over the beauty of the city.

They talked freely of the things they saw.

But they became as mute as the proverbial Sphinx when the subject of cricket was broached.

Only when they returned did they discuss the matter.

NO INTERVIEWS ALLOWED
"Very sorry, old fellow, but we are not allowed to give any interviews," P. "Plum" Warner, manager of the team, informed reporters, who as seemed to greet the ship.

The Marylebone Cricket Club, he said, had issued specific orders that no newspaper statements could be

What George Bernard Shaw Said---Jibes and All

Many Victorians heard part of the address of George Bernard Shaw over the radio from the Metropolitan Opera House. Others who did not hear it heard about it. All have been stumped to want to have the whole speech—every last word of it.

For all these, The Victoria Daily Times has obtained the complete verbatim report of Shaw's speech and will publish it as a feature of its Saturday Magazine Section to-morrow.

Other features of the Saturday Magazine Section will include:

That amazing money dynasty—the house that Morgan built; how H. G. Wells would write a movie scenario, but wants to collect only $200,000 for it.

How Canada's Rocky Mountains enshrine ancient life stretching back over 600,000,000 years.

POUND LOSES AT NEW YORK

Closes at $3.76; Canadian Dollar Ends Day's Trading at 87 7-8 Cents

Associated Press

New York, April 21.—After sharply rising at the opening the pound sterling reacted sharply at the close on the foreign exchange market here to-day to a cable rate of $3.76, nine cents lower than yesterday's close.

The Canadian dollar followed the same trend to a lesser degree, closing 5¢ cent off at 87 7-8 cents after opening strong.

Both currencies had shown exceptionally strong tendencies for the last few days. Sterling had risen from a level of $3.40. Reasons advanced for to-day's reaction were profit-taking and change of feeling regarding developments at Washington. The pound opened 3¢ cents stronger, slumped to 87 7-8¢ at noon, and experienced its sharpest decline thereafter.

After her release she went to her mother's home in West Los Angeles.

DAISY DE VOE IS OUT OF JAIL

Associated Press

Los Angeles, April 21.—The doors of the county jail here opened for Daisy de Voe to-day as she ended an eighteen-month sentence, imposed as part of five years of probation granted to her when she was convicted of committing grand theft against her former employer, Clara Bow, film actress.

The Macon, almost a duplicate of the Akron, which crashed at sea with a loss of seventy-three lives early this month, headed into the northeast breeze thirty-five minutes after the Akron. Dredge had given the signal to walk the 785-foot-long vessel out of her dock.

Among those on board were officials of the naval board of inspection, and Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of both the Akron and the Macon. The ship was expected to be aloft several hours.

The first flight of the Macon, scheduled for a week ago but postponed at the insistence of the Soviet Government, was delayed with much interest not only in the United States but in other countries, as the new aircraft is a sister to the lost Akron, being identical in outward appearance. The chief differences are in interior details.

Russians Expected To Free Two Britons

It is proposed to ask the Dominion Government to investigate the claims of the men and make awards from the fund available for this purpose. At the present time the men are a charge on the city.

It is proposed to ask the Dominion Government to investigate the claims of the men and make awards from the fund available for this purpose. At the present time the men are a charge on the city.

In the Senate banking committee a motion to modify the gold provision of the bill also was lost.

The amendment to put a check on inflation was offered by Senator Mc- Woodrow Wilson.

The measure would give the President broad discretionary powers first to arrange with the Federal Reserve system for the purchase of up to $100,000,000 of government obligations now held by reserve member banks and thus release that amount of money into commercial credit channels.

Should such an amendment not be given, the President would be given authority to issue $30,000,000 in currencies to buy the government obligations; reduce the gold content of the dollar by 50 per cent, or accept up to $100,000,000 on war debt payments in silver at fifty cents an ounce.

With the overwhelming Democratic majority in Congress, eventual approval seems assured.

British Engineers Cross Into Poland

PRESIDED AT MOSCOW TRIAL

The decisions in the case of the four British engineers who crossed the Russian frontier unpermitted, to-day when nearly $35,000,000 in specie was shipped to the gold market in London. For some months past an embargo on gold exports has been in effect.

Meanwhile W. H. Macdonald and L. C. Thornton were in a Moscow prison awaiting news of developments concerning pleas made for commutation of their sentences of two and three years.

When the four engineers arrived here they were besieged by British journalists and other representatives of the press, who were acting on instructions from London, they refused to make any statements.

Contrary to the custom, Ospu (Russia's secret police) guards did not accompany the engineers to the frontier. The men therefore enjoyed the same freedom as ordinary travelers, but were subjected to a minute search on leaving Russia. After a meal in the station buffet here the engineers rejoined the train and proceeded to Warsaw, from where they will head for Berlin and home.

The gold, understood to have been produced in Canada, was shipped to London in the hands of Montagu and Co. and the freighter Beaumaris. It was exported in the name of a Canadian bank, acting as agent.

While information respecting the shipment was meager, reports in the British press were that the action of the United States in

Gold Is Exported From Canada To British Market

Montreal, April 21.—First indication of a change in regulations affecting exportation of gold from Canada was given here to-day when nearly $35,000,000 in specie was shipped to the gold market in London. For some months past an embargo on gold exports has been in effect.

given out by them on the subject of cricket.

He was anxious, however, to express publicly his appreciation of the splendid greetings extended to the team by mayor of Victoria and particularly of the letter sent to the team by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. The ready hospitality of Victoria also received his thanks.

BATS AUTOGRAPHED

On G. C. Grant and Hubert Lethbridge, well known in local cricket circles, was bestowed the honor of autographs. The two Victorians secured the names of the Australian team and autographed them.

As the guest of acting-mayor James Adam and John Baxter, mayor's secretary, Mr. Warner was driven through Rockland Avenue district to visit His Honor. At Victoria House, the party was joined by D. R. Jardine, captain of the team, and Frank Allard, and other cricket enthusiasts, for a brief visit. The visitors were congratulated on their successes and given their first official greeting in Canada.

From Government House, Mr. Warner was taken around the uplands and rushed back to the ship after purchasing flowers here.

LAUDS HAMMOND

In a slight speech Mr. Warner spoke briefly of the splendid showing of "Wally" Hammond, batting star of the recent test matches in Australia.

To the remark made by acting-mayor Adam that the bowling difficulties seemed to have been straightened out, Mr. Warner replied, "Yes, they had quite a blow-up about that."

Hearing that Harold Larwood, alleged "demon" leg-theory bowler, had spoken in London, the English manager stated he could have given no interview. Such a course would lead to serious trouble.

He remained while at Government House, evinced great interest in the totem pole, and tried to figure out the various figures carved on the wood.

Passing through the uplands, Mr. Warner spoke of the numberless signs of homes and grounds he saw. Except for the red-tiled brick ones of England, he thought the country very much like home.

"It's like going through Surrey," he remarked as the car sped down a sun-glaide.

INTERESTED IN CURRENCY

Mr. Warner evinced great interest in the currency question, adding he intended to travel through the United States to visit Toronto, and sail for England from New York.

Tanned to a healthy bronze in the antipodes, the players looked a fine body of men as they gathered on the upper deck of the Aorangi.

When giving their autographs here, the Englishmen did not charge admission money, nor did they for their names.

Asked about the practice which according to report, furnishes a large number of shillings for an orphanage in England, Mr. Warner explained the players had averaged around 3,000 autographs while in Australia, and that some of that contribution was refrained from seeking them at the Englishmen's request.

"My room and that of Jardine looked like a library in the process of dusting at nights from the books of autograph seekers," he said.

The Victoria cricket enthusiasts showed exceptional dispatch in picking up the cricketers and taking them around town. They were ably assisted by the co-operation of the shipping and civic authorities.

No matches had been played at any ports of call during the return home from the Aorangi, and the games now imminent. There would be no games until the snow was off the ground, but no game would be made since the players did not feel they could afford to take the chance of chilling chills which might lead to illness which would interrupt the Englishmen's tour for weeks.

The members of the team who arrived on the Aorangi were: D. R. Jardine, captain; E. E. S. Wyatt, vice-captain; P. F. "Flame" Warner, manager; R. C. N. Palairat, manager; F. R. Brown, G. O. H. St. L. Leitch, W. R. Hammontree, E. Payne, M. Lenihan, K. Ames, G. Duckworth, H. M. Mitchell, M. W. Tait, H. Verity, W. E. Bowes and W. Voce.

S. B. Harris, of the London Evening Star, C. W. Ingham, of the News Chronicle and G. B. Rant, of the Reuters, cricket writers, accompanied the team.

last producer of the white metal and is keenly interested in the possibility of trade in the Orient which might be opened by making silver again a money metal.

Last year Canada produced 18,500,000 fine ounces of silver, mostly as by-products of copper and lead and nickel mines. Straight silver-producing mines have been practically idle recently owing to low prices and a substantial rise would bring them into production and swell the volume of Canada's silver output.

Some metal producers have been market leaders in the last two days as more likely than other mines to benefit early from the inflation move. Their share led the upswing on stock exchanges yesterday.

WHEAT PLEDGES

The Dominion government's wheat stabilization operations of last year brought it into the wheat market to an amount never revealed. Through John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian Wheat Board, the producers bought futures to prevent a precipitous and disastrous market fall. It is now believed the market has risen high enough to make a loss on these transactions impossible. At one time it was officially estimated the treasury stood to lose $50,000,000.

Shanghai, April 21.—Establishment of an independent state in the coastal area of north China seized by Japanese and Manchukuan troops was reported to-day.

The new domain is the triangular area between the Great Wall and the Luan River, with its base extending about 100 miles along the Yellow River and its apex at the point where the river and the wall meet nearly 100 miles inland.

Japanese and Manchukuan officials were reported to have held a meeting yesterday at Peitaiho, the coast town near Chinwangtung, where a so-called Luan Provisional Government was organized.

The separate action north of the Luan River caused spread of rumors that Peiping and Tientsin, the two largest international centres of north China, may also be brought under the new government.

SUPPORT U.B.C.

In the first group it was resolved that free education should be given until the end of the eighteenth year, that provincial and municipal health services at present provided for the elementary and high schools be maintained, that the minimum age for elementary and high school training be increased as follows:

Elementary, 12 years; secondary,

14 years; and university, 18 years.

Under the heading of provincial issues it was urged that there be a committee to be appointed in the session of the Provincial Legislature; that the provincial government assume responsibility for at least that portion of the total cost of public education which it has borne during recent years and which is approximately 37 per cent.

That a steep reduction of rates of income tax be adopted with no increase in the rates for the incomes of lower levels; that exploration be made of the possibilities of securing more revenue from succession duties and large bequests; that there be greater assurance for the people that tax collections will be accurate and impartial and that tax collections will be efficient and thorough; that investigation be made of the feasibility of arrangements whereby provincial and municipal governments could borrow money directly from the Dominion Government; that greater control over taxation be given to the provincial government, and that legislative enactments be made to reduce the maximum term of life of provincial and municipal bond issues.

FEDERAL ISSUES

Federal issues included a resolution urging a vigorous federal and provincial policy of encouragement of production and internal and international trade; that an endeavor be made by the Dominion and provincial governments to form some scheme of debt conversion; that the Dominion Government exercise greater control over the banks than a specially appointed committee or commission; that there be closer co-operation with the British and United States governments in order that the stabilization of exchange rates and currency values be hastened; that a careful study be made of the proposal that a national bank be established in Canada, and that the same be conducted independently of the banks of Canada, and that the Canadian bank be given a permanent non-partisan, federal economic council including in its membership economists, statisticians and representatives of group economic interests, to serve the Dominion Government in an advisory capacity.

CAMPAGNIA POLITICA

In her presidential address Mrs. A. E. Delmage stressed the co-operation between the many organizations whose purpose is the welfare of children and spoke briefly of the many occasions on which she had represented the provincial federation. The legislative committee had been appointed during the year, and the campaign policy of the federation, as a result of its work, stated.

Special speakers were Dr. W. Gordon Cumming, whose address on "Money" proved of outstanding interest, and H. N. McCordindale, who spoke on "The Junior High School."

SILVER AS PAYMENT

Washington, April 21.—Speaker Rainey to-day at a business conference with the United States administration's proposal to accept $100,000,000 in silver on the war debts from foreign nations would result in the placing of silver on the sixteen-to-one basis.

The Speaker also disclosed a bill would be introduced next week to authorize gasoline and alcohol blending as a revenue and agriculture relief measure.

Asked whether the administration in-faction plan would comprise all the legislation enacted at this session, the Illinois Democrat said no.

"The move by the administration is the opening gun for the fight to place silver on the sixteen-to-one basis," he said. "I think it will come to that."

POSITION OF SILVER

Suspension of the export of gold by the United States is similar to action taken by Canada long ago. The only offhand statement Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, would make on the situation was that it rather vindicated the stand taken by the Canadian government.

Mr. H. C. Irwin, a Commons member and an advocate of inflation, asked him if the government would not change its attitude.

STATEMENT BY RHODES

London, April 21.—Although the government was being importuned to-day to maintain the ratio between the pound sterling and the dollar which existed before the United States abandoned gold, there was no indication of any official move to meet this demand.

One section of the press held it was necessary to maintain the advantages that have accrued to her through the depreciated pound.

"The British Government must see that the pound moves correspondingly away from the dollar," an editorial in The London Daily Express said.

The London Daily Mail declared: "If world currencies are re-valued

HARMONY OF SPIRIT

"Your President has been good enough to invite me both as Prime Minister of my country and as chairman of the World Economic Conference to go to America to help solve the economic problems which have to be dealt with at that gathering. I have accepted because I believe that we two are in harmony of spirit regarding all great world causes, and agree that the most pressing of these at the moment is the removal of the economic distress that has been caused by the depression."

"We must strive to clear the obstacles which block the highways, and to restore the hope of employment to the workless millions who look to earn their living in factory and field."

CITY'S WELCOME

The Bergengarai dropped anchor at quarantine at 10:30. The city tug Macom, with flags flying and carrying members of the municipal committee for the reception of distinguished guests and government representatives, was at that time steaming down the bay from the Battery. The mayor's committee was headed for this occasion by former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, who was the city's official greeter when flamboyant city politicians were far more frequent than now.

TRAVELS TO WASHINGTON

WORLD GOLD BASIS URGED

The Dominion government's wheat stabilization operations of last year brought it into the wheat market to an amount never revealed. Through John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian Wheat Board, the producers bought futures to prevent a precipitous and disastrous market fall.

It is now believed the market has risen high enough to make a loss on these transactions impossible.

At one time it was officially estimated the treasury stood to lose $50,000,000.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

London, April 21.—Britain anxiously awaits President Roosevelt's next move. "Fantastic" is the curt comment in official circles on reports the departure of the United States from gold is due in some mysterious way to British manipulation.

The purpose of the exchange equalization fund, the Canadian Press is informed, "is to maintain the pound sterling on as even a keel as possible and thus facilitate the restoration of international trade. The fund is not intended, nor is it used, to interfere with the value of the dollar or any other foreign currency."

CONDITIONS CONTRASTED

And in both official and financial circles there is a sharp distinction drawn between the conditions under which Great Britain was forced off the gold standard and the deliberate abandonment of the gold standard by the United States.

In Great Britain credit was being rapidly impaired by withdrawal of foreign balances at a time when Britain had an adverse trade balance. Nevertheless by the establishment of credits in New York and Paris—credit which eventually entailed considerable loss to the British exchequer—Great Britain made a strenuous effort to hold on to the gold standard. And it was further credits were unavailable that Great Britain suspended gold payments.

Similar conditions, it is observed by some authorities, do not obtain in the United States. While the United States abandoned the gold standard, it still holds abnormal stocks of the previous metal.

DEFENDED AS DEFAULT

The London Financial News reports that "prices ran rather high" in London's commercial and financial centres when word of the United States abandonment of the gold standard was received. One well-known banker is quoted as saying "it is nothing but a default of the gold standard."

The dollar situation was bartered from the long conversation this forenoon between Mr. Davis and M. Daladier. Mr. Davis asked the Premier to leave the dollar question out as he was not prepared to discuss it but did not fully know what France would do at the resumption of the Disarmament Conference in Geneva.

The government is occupied immediately with the monetary problem and must send new instructions to former Premier Herriot's party, now en route to Washington.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Se. de France, En route to New York, April 21.—Apparently unharmed, Jerome Factor, nineteen-year-old Northwestern University student, held captive for $50,000 ransom, was freed early to-day by the abductors and returned to his mother's apartment in the Rogers Park district. He professed not to know where he had been held prisoner since his abduction a week ago last Wednesday evening.

The French delegation presented the sudden action as "throwing France still on a gold standard, into monetary isolation and doubted whether they could make any satisfactory trade arrangements with the United States now."

Complete new instructions were to be transmitted to the delegation. Only two days remained for the group to readjust its course of action before its arrival at New York.

DOUBTFUL WISDOM

From the wider standpoint, The London Financial Times observed, "the action of President Roosevelt is of very doubtful wisdom. The first result has been administration of a shock to the world. Already there is apprehension of another world war." The risk of opening up of retaliatory action by countries which have relied on depreciation of their currencies to aid them in their plight."

Parris, April 21.—A government spokesman to-day said France was determined to keep the gold standard and fight the United States dollar in a possible commercial invasion by raising tariffs.

Both the government and the Bank of France were "undisturbed," he said, and considered the franc absolutely solid.

The whole problem, including the negotiations between the Washington conversations between the French and the United States, will be considered at a cabinet meeting to-morrow.

George Bonnet, Minister of Finance, in the meantime talked with Clement M. Keynor, Governor of the Bank of France, and then consulted with Premier Edward Daladier.

It is agreed it is unlikely anything will be done, particularly concerning tariff increases, until after the Washington talks.

Amendments Introduced in Commons; Committee Plan Urged

Canadian Press Ottawa, April 21.—Consideration will be given by the government to suggestions from opposition members that amendments to the Pension Act, given first reading in the Commons yesterday afternoon, be submitted to a small committee of the House for examination. Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions, so informed the members when he was piloting the bill through its initial stages.

The suggestion was urged on the government by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre; Major C. G. Power, Liberal, Quebec South, and Alfred Speakman, U.F.A., Red Deer.

Col. MacLaren outlined the main features of the legislation as follows: It abolishes the Pension Tribunal and increases the personnel of the Board of Pension Commissioners to eight, including the chairman.

The commission will establish, from among its members, traveling boards of two commissioners which will visit and inspect "as convenient places throughout the country." (This function was previously performed by the Pension Tribunals.)

Change in PAYMENT PLAN

Pension awards will be paid by the Comptroller of the Treasury and not, as heretofore, by the Pensions Department.

A reviewing officer, subject to the jurisdiction and control of the president of the Appeal Court, is to be appointed. He will be a medical man.

The time limit within which appeals may be taken from decisions of the pension commissioners is extended to ninety days.

Additional to these, the minister continued, were a number of features that would simplify the machinery and eliminate delays in the consideration of pension applications.

The minister said the administrative economies contemplated by the bill would amount to about $400,000 a year.

stubbiness on the part of the government."

"I suspect every step this government takes in connection with the Canadian National Railways and I have mighty good reason," said Mr. Motherwell.

He told of traveling on a slow mixed train which formerly there was a fast passenger service between Ottawa and Nanpean, Ont.

The traveling public would not put up with that kind of service. The little traffic the railway had now would soon be lost to buses and trucks. The C.P.R. planned going into the bus business, but the members of the Canadian National would have power to prevent that line taking a similar step.

From that Mr. Motherwell launched into a criticism of the proposed trustee board. It was ridiculous, he said, to try to organize a government system of railroads by three individuals under no public control whatever.

WAGE REDUCTIONS

It was after a five-hour deadlock that Mr. Heenan withdrew his sixty-day amendment.

During the exchange Mr. Heenan accused the government of initiating the 20 per cent wage reduction on the railways. Conservatives shouted denials. Liberals echoed Mr. Heenan.

The House was in a "huddle" for five minutes with Mr. Heenan and denials, with the former labor minister having the last word when he told the government it must accept the bitter with the sweet. It had boasted of reducing railway expenses and must accept responsibility of wage cuts.

An amendment to the Heenan amendment, introduced by Hon. G. B. Nicholson, Liberal, North Battleford, Sask., also was withdrawn. The McIntosh amendment would have had the effect of further providing that in allocation of work an effort should be made to adjust seniority rights.

Mr. Nicholson then moved his amendment.

Notice of two amendments, allowed to stand, was given by Mr. Heenan. One provides that men laid off as a result of economies should be given preference in any new terminal or other service which may be created. The other provides that employees of the Canadian National, Canadian Pacific or other services should not have any change made in their wages or working conditions.

The remaining sections of the bill were quickly passed. "On division and under protest," according to P. F. Casgrain, Liberal whip, with the exception of twenty-three and twenty-four, which were held over for government amendments of a minor nature.

RAIL BILL NEARS ITS FINAL STAGE IN THE COMMONS

Heenan Calls For Protection For Workers Ousted By Pooling of Services; Motherwell Criticizes Government's Attitude Toward C.N.R.

Canadian Press Ottawa, April 21.—Except for a few finishing touches to be applied to contentious sections, the Commons has completed its work on the railway bill. This afternoon the House resumed the business of obtaining money to the various departments of the government where it left off two weeks ago.

In a stubborn battle for what he considers the interest of railway workers, Hon. Peter Heenan, Irish-born railway engineer and former Minister of Labor, locked horns yesterday evening with Hon. R. J. Manion, Irish-Canadian Minister of Railways. Mr. Heenan wanted a clause in the bill to require twenty days' notice to railway workers about to be let out owing to the merging of services between the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways.

Dr. Manion claimed the railwaymen were amply protected by the provisions of the bill as it stood and by their union contracts with the railways.

MILK AND CHEESE EXPORTS STUDIED

Canadian Press Ottawa, April 21.—Canada, as far as dairy products are concerned, should concentrate on the export of cheese and concentrated milk, J. F. Singleton of Ottawa, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, told delegates attending the Dominion conference on dairy farming here.

Mr. Singleton remarked Canadian concentrated milks were popular in the United Kingdom, and in view of the further expansion of Canadian cheese production, he recommended a premium over the New Zealand product, while Canadian butter sold at a discount as compared with New Zealand, the Dominion would be well advised to concentrate on cheese and concentrated milks.

During the discussion Premier Bennett advised the House the government might modify the section of the bill dealing with co-operation in the railway industry.

One whole section of the bill deals with the question of co-operation between the railways. Hon. W. H. Motherwell said that "so long as the two railway companies are doing such excellent work in the way of co-operating, it might be wise to let them run along as they are doing, always conscious of the fact there is a provision in the law the government can at any time force co-operation if the railways do not continue their great work in voluntary co-operation."

The idea was worthy of consideration, said the Prime Minister. He would discuss with the cabinet the idea of stipulating in the bill the compulsory co-operation features would not come into effect until proclaimed.

SAYS 40,000 INTERESTED

During the debate, Mr. Heenan, Liberal member for Kamloops-Rainier, charged the railwaymen of Canada had received no compensation from the government, either through the railway bill or the Duff Commission. Conservatives in the House, continued the former Labor Minister, had opposed compensation for men whose work had ended down a motion to appoint a labor representative on the board of trustees, and "now they are going to sacrifice 40,000 railwaymen without notice."

EUROPE CRITICAL; CANADA PLEASED

World reception of President Roosevelt's excursion into controlled currency inflation is decidedly mixed. In some quarters in Great Britain and France it is sharply unfavorable, while in Canada it is generally favorable. In Great Britain, which abandoned the gold standard when its national government was formed, it is feared the Washington policy will not only deprive British export trade of the advantage which it derived from depreciated currency, but will be followed by a rise in commodity prices which, owing to a low wage standard, would be resented by the people. Likewise, protectionist interests are critical, since a general lowering of customs tariffs is brought nearer by the United States embargo on gold exports.

France remains among the leading financial powers as the chief champion of the gold standard. But France rewrites her currency after the war, paid off three-fourths of her domestic debt as well as some of her foreign obligations in depreciated francs. Next to the United States she has the largest supply of gold. It is difficult, therefore, to appreciate her objections to a policy by Washington which is devised to meet the economic crisis in the United States as definitely as the policy of depreciating the franc was devised to meet the economic exigencies of France.

Canada, on the other hand, expects to benefit materially from the action of the United States, both through the depreciation of the dollar and in the rise of commodity prices. The reduction of the adverse exchange which has operated against her will save large sums on account of interest and principal payments in New York, while the rise in prices of commodities will give a stimulus to her basic industries such as agriculture, lumbering, and mining. Against these is the disadvantage which will arise from the increase in the value of the dollar as against the pound, which means that Canada will lose on her commitments in the London market. The main reaction, however, will be in her favor.

Apparently President Roosevelt's action is prompted by his desire to increase commodity prices in the United States as a means of meeting the formidable mortgage problem which has been causing havoc in the agricultural industry of his country, as well as to prepare the world stage for the stabilization of exchange and a downward scaling of tariff barriers with the object of stimulating world trade. Whether it will have that effect or not remains to be seen. If it will help to encourage industry in the United States, the world will benefit indirectly as long as this is accompanied by a lowering of tariff barriers and recognition of the fundamental fact that increased commodity prices also must involve increased wages in industry.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR CANADIAN EXPORTERS TO REGAIN MARKETS

Dr. J. E. Lattimer, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at McGill University, thinks Canadian exporters of dairy products should be selling more to Great Britain than they are at present. He notes that during the last decade Canada did particularly well in this regard, although during that time this country came very close to going off the world market in bacon, butter, and eggs, the very products in which British imports have expanded most.

While Dr. Lattimer recognizes the importance of all the Dominion's diversified exports, he has written at length recently on the possibility of Canadian bacon getting back to the British market on a large scale. For instance, in 1931, he observes, Britain's purchases of this commodity alone was valued at no less than £18,000,000 in excess of the value of her purchases before the war. The Statesman's Year Book gives the 1913 figure as £17,429,000; in other words, she has doubled her consumption of cheese as far as value is concerned in the last eighteen years. The special point which Dr. Lattimer emphasizes, however, is that of cheese purchases amounting in value in 1931 to approximately £36,000,000, ninety-six per cent of these imports was from foreign countries. In view of this condition and by reason of the fact that Canadian cheese has a preference in the British market, as well as a quota of 2,500,000 cwt., the present appears to him to be a favorable time to make a bid for some of this business. It is nevertheless to be borne in mind, says Dr. Lattimer, that "the British market depends upon two things—uniformity and regularity of supply, which, again, means that it is necessary to stay in the market even when profits recede or disappear altogether in order to retain it when profits are again possible."

What Dr. Lattimer has said about cheese was supported by a statement from Mr. J. F. Singleton, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, to the delegates attending the Dominion Conference of Dairy Farming, now in session at Ottawa. He urged them to concentrate on the export of cheese and concentrated milk, the latter being popular in the United Kingdom, while Canadian cheese ordinarily commands a premium over the New Zealand product, whereas Canadian butter sells at a discount compared with New Zealand butter.

Canadian bacon, cheese, and butter almost disappeared from the British market during our good wheat-crop years and European countries increased their exports of these commodities. Markets once lost, of course, are not easily regained. But with the empire-buying movement now gaining momentum in Great Britain, coupled with the preference and quota arrangement, our exporters of these dairy products evidently would do well to take the advice of Dr. Lattimer and Mr. Singleton.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY LEADERSHIP FIGHT

To-morrow will end the fifteen-day period in which Premier Tolmie is expected by the British Columbia Conservative Association to formulate a programme of government and policy for submission to the party organization. What the Premier will report is an open question, but the prospects are he will tell his supporters to follow the dictation of their own political consciences, and his government ostensibly will go to the country without any party designation.

On Monday, Mr. Bowser will open his campaign at Kamloops, a rather interesting association, since it was at Kamloops that the Conservative party bounced him from the leadership and chose Dr. Tolmie. Mr. Bowser has dubbed his party unionist, but before the campaign is over it will be found that nine-tenths of his strength will be derived from Conservatives who are dissatisfied with the Tolmie government, and that he practically will be leading a wing of the Conservative party.

It is significant that deserters from the sinking government ship contemplate enrolling themselves under Mr. Bowser's banner, obviously prompted by the belief that they in doing so are still maintaining their allegiance to their party and are only exchanging one party leader for another. This, of course, is simply political sword-swallowing. Hence, there will be two Conservative parties in the field in the forthcoming provincial election—one captained by Premier Tolmie and the other by Mr. Bowser. The Kamloops convention of 1926 did not settle the Conservative party leadership, after all. The fight is still on.

BRITISH COLUMBIA WATCHING EMBARGO DEVELOPMENT

The fact that at present there is lying at Leningrad and Archangel Russian lumber for shipment to Great Britain valued at nearly $20,000,000 is causing considerable speculation as to what will happen to it if the British embargo on imports from the Soviet domain shall be imposed.

A proportion of its value already has been paid by the importers, and if it shall be barred, this deposit will be forfeit. This is a matter in which the lumber industry of British Columbia is especially interested, since if Russia is wiped out of the economic picture as far as Britain is concerned, this province hopes to sell more lumber in the United Kingdom market.

The almost certain prospect of severance of relations between London and Moscow and the imposition of the import embargo leads The Manchester Guardian to predict a steep rise in all softwood prices, with Finland grabbing most of the market which Russia will have to forego. It recalls that when imports from Russia were last banned the Finnish price for similar qualities of wood rose from £10 to £30 per standard, although under normal trade conditions, Finland can export at about the same price as the Russians. This Old Country daily also observes that "the Finns, given a virtual monopoly, can afford to add quite a lot to their present prices before they reach empire or United States quotations."

Monetary changes in the last forty-eight hours may upset many predictions made a few days ago. But there is still another angle to the effect the British embargo against the import of Russian lumber may have. A London dispatch warns that should the shipments of the Soviet product now lying at Leningrad and Archangel be refused admission to the United Kingdom, they would be disposed of in other markets at a low price and thus head off any tendency for prices to rise.

In spite of the difficulties British Columbia has of competing successfully in the United Kingdom with the products of the northern European countries, the industry in this province is now in a position to quote much lower prices than ever before, while it stands to reason that our operators will do their utmost to get some of the business which Russia seems destined to lose.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TO INFLATE OR NOT TO INFLATE

The Christian Science Monitor

Shall we inflate, deflate or refloat? Inflation is an expanding or upward movement, the period ending with the market break in 1929 having been one of inflation. Deflation is in the opposite direction, present conditions being the result of such a process. Reflation is a coined word, meaning inflation so controlled that it is halted at a normal level. In speaking generally of inflation, this control is implied, the word inflation being used in an attempt to divorce the process from whatever unfavorable connotation it may have acquired as a result of the "boom" period.

Whether inflation in some form is desirable or not, the word must be fully understood before any conclusion as to its merits can be drawn.

It describes broadly by a process of expanding money and the ensuing rise in prices. Money is meant the entire medium of exchange, consisting of from 5 to 10 per cent cash and the rest bank credit. It can be expanded at one point by lowering the value of the dollar through decreasing the amount of gold in the gold dollar, by remonetizing silver or by printing more paper currency, and at another point by expanding credit through accelerated loan activity and a greater use or turnover of existing money.

There are, therefore, two chief classifications or methods of inflation: currency expansion and credit expansion.

Currency expansion is supposed to result in credit expansion, but does not always do so, and involves other factors not encountered in mere credit expansion. Advocates of the latter also point out that it is possible to expand credit without resorting first to an increase in cash.

This currency expansion is widely opposed, at least outside Congress, because not only is it claimed to be a questionable, if not dangerous, process, but because it seems unnecessary at present in the face of an adequate supply of cash, even if made safe and secure.

Loose Ends

Alice finds things even more upset than usual in Wonderland—Sir Simon wants to be reasonable—Sir Harry foresees disorder—Sir Bill outlines his policy in detail—and Sir Duff is remarkably frank.

By H. B. W.

WONDERLAND

A LICE HADN'T been to Wonderland for some time, and to tell the truth the Wonderland folk had not seen Alice together pleased to see her. They looked as if they had something serious on their minds. "It's the voters that are worrying us," said the Walrus. "If it weren't for the Conservative Party and the voters, we'd have such a jolly time. They will insist on putting into our affairs." But Sir Simon, the Red Knight of Saanich, was as cordial and jolly as ever, and Alice liked him for it. "Things" said Sir Simon, "are going splendidly. We are about to form a non-party union government. We have been going to for some time. We still are. We expect to be for some time longer. To-morrow I am going over to Vancouver to consult the Conservative Executive about it."

"But," said Alice, "who is very ignorant about such things, if it's going to be a non-party union government, why consult the Conservative Executive?"

"Well, you'd hardly understand the finer points of this program," said Sir Simon. "You see, the Liberals wouldn't come in so there is no use consulting the Liberal Party. Mr. Bowser's party is non-party, but it won't let our party in. There is no other party to consult about a non-party government, so, of course, we have to consult the Conservative Party. You may be sure if there were another party to consult it would consult it. Goodness knows, after what the Conservative Party has done to me, I sometimes wish I had never seen it. But we have got to have the Conservative Party in this non-party government. So far as I can see at present it will be the only party in it. If it doesn't come in the arrangement will be no non-party that it won't be a government at all."

PATRIOTS

"YOU MEAN," said Alice, "that the Conservative Party will be the only party which will put the good of the country before its own selfish interests, and will patriotically remain in office while the other parties selfishly struggle to get elected?"

"Well," said Sir Simon, "something of the sort. That is a good way of putting it. I must write that down for future use."

"But I thought that this Conservative Executive you're going to consult was controlled by Sir Bill, the White Knight of Bowser?" said Alice.

"Sometimes we think so and sometimes we hope not," said Sir Simon, "but you must remember this: If the executive endorses the government, then we still have the Conservative Party behind us, and that's something—not much, I sometimes think, but something. And if the executive rejects us, then we can say indeed that it is a non-party government, since no party will have anything to do with it. What could be more non-partisan than that? What the country really needs, though, is to be more like Denmark."

"Like Denmark?" said Alice.

"Yes," said Sir Simon. "As I pointed out in my speech in the Legislature a short time ago, they have ten hogs per square mile in Denmark. Here we have ten different policies on union government per cabinet minister. What we really need is more hogs and less cabinet ministers. We want to get back to the land."

"I feel certain," said Alice, "that under your beneficial government most of you will get back to the land this year."

"Very likely," said Sir Simon, "but I do wish Sir Duff of Rupert had come in with us. I said when he first refused that I regretted it. Now things have got so bad that I really do regret it. The trouble is that the people are so impatient. If they'd only give us a few years to work it out, I feel sure we'd form a non-party government. At least we have taken the first step towards it. We have laid down the sacred principle of union. We have insisted on budgeting for union wages for all cabinet ministers. And if you can't have union wages, what is the good of a union government?"

"I confess I cannot imagine," said Alice.

BIG ISSUE

BUT THE REAL ISSUE of the election," said Sir Harry of Esquimalt, another likeable figure in Wonderland whom Alice always enjoyed, "the real issue is whether we are going to have orderly government or a lot of groups which will just make chaos after the poll. The real issue is between order and disorder."

"But," said Alice, "if the groups get together after the election and form a union then, wouldn't it be as good as a union now? Would that be disorder?"

"You don't understand," said Sir Harry. "We might not be the biggest group when you haven't got the largest group. What we have got to do is to save the country from the majority of the voters. But speaking confidentially, I sometimes wish no one had ever suggested this non-party idea to the chief here. We've never been the same since. Life was so nice and simple out in Esquimalt in the old days. Now it's so complicated and one must be aware what one says lest one say something which offend others."

"One feels pretty low when he has to cultivate people like that."

POLICY

A LICE TRIED to get Sir Bill of Bowser, but he was busy getting ready for a trip through the interior to organize a non-party party and smash the other non-party party.

"Where is this non-party party of yours?" asked Alice innocently.

"You're looking at it right now," said Sir Bill.

"But what is your policy?" said Alice.

"Policy?" said Sir Bill. "I have never tried to hide that. My policy is to get elected. That's policy enough for anyone these days. After we get elected it will be time enough to think about what we are going to do. Government and details of that sort can wait till then. Running the country was always the least of my troubles in the old days. The trouble was to run the party. Now that I've got a party I can run, the rest should be easy."

"I can't quite make out," said Alice. "Now that you've got a party I can run, the rest should be easy."

How to Save B.C.'s Millions

By LIEUT-COLONEL R. ROSS NAPIER
(Formerly Department Commissioner)

No measures tending to economy of relationship to the others, as at present, all thought of economy may be unless either the government of the day has the will to act, or is compelled to do so by weight of public opinion. Were I asked to say what has been done, I would say nothing. In British Columbia governments, I should say without hesitation that it was their ever-dominating atmosphere of fear and suspicion. Let some local ward-heeler voice objection to some administrative reforms regarding which he is totally ignorant, and the political mind immediately jumps to a rigid vision of an avalanche of opposition votes at the next election. The ward-heeler, it is true, might be totally incapable of influencing any vote but his own, and that might be of very doubtful stability, but the political mind in taking no cognizance and the administrative reform is postponed and is soon completely forgotten. In like manner every suggestion of reform, however honestly made, immediately arouses a suspicion of some ulterior and sinister motive.

It is undoubtedly owing to these unfortunate circumstances that most reform will create the necessary machinery by which properly co-ordinated administrative action may be achieved. Although, if any economy is to be achieved, it is obviously as necessary that there be a council or committee of departmental commissioners, as of the members of the Legislature, who necessarily, in British Columbia, is the will to honest administration on the part of a government, and the necessary governmental authority for the formation and procedure of such bodies. The effect of the establishment of such a "ad hoc" committee would operate doubt in this province, as, not only would an effective check be placed on governmental extravagance, but the secrecy of procedure which, in ever growing measure, has characterized recent years, would be a thing of the past. With such a commission as the "ad hoc" committee, it is much better, in the end, to suffer such inconvenience, than it is to cover with a cloak of secrecy rottenness which must eventually poison and corrupt the whole body politic.

GUIDANCE

To the Editor—My attention was drawn by my husband to the letter of the "Oxford Group Mother," as his contention is, that only those who have money or position interest the teaching of Christ. He was added into the inner circle. One would hate to think that there are religious snobs because that is not consistent with the teaching of Christ. But the inference that because someone was "little known" he or she might not be invited is distinctly snobbish. However, it may be possible that the message was not well received. It was thought as chiefly for the rich and exclusive because their need spiritually is greater than the need of those, who, like myself, are disciplined by circumstances. I was sent an invitation but it was so impossible to afford the expense and inconvenient to leave home that I never considered it. I felt strongly that those who are ostracized give to those who, like myself, are not justified to spend any money, that I wrote to one of the visiting group. It remains to be seen if anything is arranged. Writing as a mother, I think that our families unintentionally make it difficult because they are critical, and anything that has to do with the "Groupers" is not good faith. If we have really learned the message the "Groupers" have brought, and are trying to walk with God in our daily lives, we must be prepared for disappointments sometimes. We cannot always understand God's ways, but we must have more trust and pray to keep the new-found happiness and joy. Let us be glad that some way has been found to reach the rich and unapproachable, and pray that this movement will prove able to surmount not only the barriers of race and greed but also of wealth and poverty.

CAPTAIN COOK

To the Editor—British Columbia, in course of history, has been visited by two outstanding world figures, Captain Cook and Sir Alexander Mackenzie. It is evident that the money part of it, a huge monument should be erected at Nootka, saying the great British navigator was the first white man to tread British Columbia soil; and that people a few thousand years hence will know who really did it.

"The man," says an old book of Capt. Cook's explorations, "ever made greater scientific additions to study of geography and navigation. He explored unknown Australia for upwards of 2,000 miles, discovered and explored Sandwich Islands and numerous a political sense, but notwithstanding statements to the contrary, experience shows that members hang on desperately to the illegal and detrimental patronage system, at the expense of the wretched taxpayer.

The method of operation of an "ad hoc" committee, as I most readily explained here, is as follows: I have spoken of the necessity for regulating the erection or purchase of government buildings, and we may presume that it has been decided to appoint a "building" committee, to whom all such matters will be referred. The committee will consist of, say, three members, already civil servants, selected possibly on account of wide personal knowledge of the province, and other attributes. The members would not include technical officials, such as architects or engineers, but the officials would be available to the committee to give evidence or advice on technical matters. Members of the committee would be sworn in and the decision of the committee as to the advisability of erecting or purchasing any building would be referred to the Legislature, although the vote of individual members of the committee would not be indicated in the records unless a member decided to lodge a minority report. Any attempt to influence any member of the committee except by proper representation to the committee as a whole would be a criminal offence with heavy penalties.

We will suppose that some department is desirous of having a building erected at some place in the province and the whole matter, with reasons for the building, is submitted to the committee. The process of investigation would probably call in the services of civil servants having intimate knowledge of the locality and necessities of the case, to give evidence under oath. If, after fullest possible investigation, they decide that the building is needed in the best interests of the province and economy of administration, it does not follow that the matter is finished for all time. The unfavorable report is passed on to the executive, who, of course, have the power to ignore the report of the committee and to authorize the erection of the building. It is possible that a committee is appointed for a particular phase of administration, an inexpensive and effective means has been found of combating and eliminating many evils in modern administrations which formerly affected British Columbians, according to day All that is required for the establishment of a committee is that there be a nucleus of persons who are willing to work together for the purpose of dealing with a particular phase of administration, an inexpensive and effective means has been found of combating and eliminating many evils in modern administrations which formerly affected British Columbians, according to day.

In the establishment of "ad hoc" committees, i.e. committees constituted for the purpose of dealing with a particular phase of administration, an inexpensive and effective means has been found of combating and eliminating many evils in modern administrations which formerly affected British Columbians, according to day.

The old Capt. Cook book says:

"Though proper that England should record its sense of service and devotion to duty of one of the leaders of the world, yet many little attachmen to this great Englishman that have been raised on scenes of his labours."

"I cleared land for a garden at Otagohe on the 26th," writes Capt. Cook, "and planted potatoe, onions, apples, turnips, etc., and made a fair way of succeeding before we left the place. At Otagohe we freed the poultry with which we were to stock the island; also we put ashore three valuable cows, horse and mare and sheep. Thus I was lightened of a very heavy load of iron and various articles of bringing this living cargo so far, is hard to be concealed."

"On the 7th of March," writes storm-battered Capt. Cook, the long-looked-for coast of "New Albion" was sighted. (This coast was then named by Drake, who sailed north in 1578.)

"Boat crews getting piloted safely into harbor on a murky night with fog-horns moaning like sick cows, should call up a mental picture of Capt. Cook arriving on this uncharted rock-bound coast, greeted by a fog with a cold wind blowing across him and driving rain."

"A gold medal was awarded him, etc."

1578 Clive Drive, Oak Bay.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor—I wish to express my sincere appreciation through the press to those who so kindly rendered assistance when my daughter met with an accident at the waterfront near the Four Mile House on April 19.

I am particularly grateful to the nurse who rendered first aid at the scene and the lady who drove from the scene of the mishap to my home to inform us of the accident.

You have been offered "quick-starting" gasolines, "power" gasolines, "anti-knock" gasolines.

Here is a combination of all three. The three pure types of energy from the very heart of petroleum, with all the wasteful parts discarded.

QUICK-ENERGY—For starting, pick-up, changes in motor speed. Very important to every driver. But only one of three essentials.

POWER ENERGY—Even the premium-priced fuels cannot excel Shell 3-energy in mileage, in power. Compare any fuel with Shell 3-energy.

gasoline—regardless of price. But mileage isn't the whole story.

ANTI-KNOCK ENERGY—to turn power into a smooth, steady flow; to reduce engine strain and wear; to give you quiet, knock-free performance on the hills.

Look for all three of these energies in Shell. Compare it with the so-called special "power fuels," the "super-anti-knock" gasolines and featured "starting" varieties. Here is a gasoline that does the entire job better!

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR 20 YEARS

But None Since 1930

This man must have something like a record for suffering. He says: "Since 1910 up to 1930—that is 20 years, I have been a great sufferer with rheumatism. I am pleased to say that since 1930 up to date, I have been free from that dreadful pain, simply by taking Kruschen Salts—and nothing else. I must say that 20 years is a long time to have had awful rheumatic pain about one."

Your rheumatism is just like his and everyone else's. It is caused by sharp-edged uric acid crystals getting into your joints. Kruschen will dissolve these crystals, and if the man now reading of the Bible there would be in that same proportion less insanity in and outside the asylums; neither would there be any unscriptural, misguided "guidance" sought and no consequent disappointment and misery.

Christians writing on spiritual matters would foremost and uppermost have Christ in their minds and hearts, they would then write to His glory only and exalt His Name. His Person and His propitiatory work on the cross of Calvary and their letters would be a blessing to writer and reader alike.

But if they use these columns to propound their pet theories and fanciful personal ideas, quibbling with each other, they hurt Christianity and make it the laughing stock of the underworld.

As foretold the innumerable religious "isms" are with us to stay until the end when they shall all disappear at the brightness of Christ's glorious appearance. The Lord Himself hates all these "isms" but loves the "ists" for did He not die for all, therefore, for them to say "that all who believe in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

With Frances Havergal we would like to utter her prayer which we reproduce here in part as a preventative against "doting about questions and strifes of words . . . please dispute in love." "Take my life and let it be Ever, only, ALL for Thee!" Let this be an incentive to occupy ourselves more profitably. Till He Come!

WORLD PROBLEMS BRING THESE TWO TOGETHER

These two young women from opposite sides of the Atlantic whose fathers head the governments of two of the world's principal nations will meet when Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain visits President Roosevelt at the White House to confer on world problems. At the left is Miss Isabel MacDonald, twenty-nine, elder daughter of the widowed premier and his official hostess at his London mansion, while at the right is Mrs. Anne Eleanor Dall, twenty-seven, only daughter of President Roosevelt, who will be Miss MacDonald's hostess during her visit to Washington. Both are politically minded, Mrs. Dall having campaigned for her father and Miss MacDonald having been elected to the London County Council.

St. Joseph's Graduation Exercises Held Yesterday Evening Before Throng

Beautiful Ceremony Staged in Academy Auditorium; Thirty-two Nurses Receive Diplomas; Lieut.-Governor and Bishop Murray Among Speakers

With typical charm and perfection of detail the graduation exercises of St. Joseph's Hospital training school, Class of 1933, took place yesterday evening in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy when thirty-two student nurses received their diplomas and medals. Beautiful flowers in tall baskets and a wealth of floral sprays and bouquets flanked the steps leading to the stage where the members of the training school were ranged in tiers, and where they were joined by the graduates whose entrance was very impressive.

THE GRADUATES

The graduates were as follows: Beatrice M. Locke, Victoria; Bernice H. Colman, Los Angeles; Kathleen M. Lambright, Galiano Island; Evelyn C. Duffield, Victoria; Victoria I. Waran, Vancouver; Margaret Grant, Victoria; Adele Sylvester, Ferndale; Catherine E. Conner, Anchorage; Mary K. McLean, Victoria; Helen G. Anderson, Victoria; Janetta E. Sneddon, Victoria; Lily J. MacDonald, Grand Forks; Winifred Gray, Creelman, Saik; Irene Francis, Lady Jean Arnold-Wallinger, Victoria; Joann A. Speed, Victoria; Augusta McKay, Victoria; Anna S. Hartman, Alberni; Margaret M. Akerman, Pulpit Harbor; Helen A. Teto, Solana B.C.; Gladys L. Reynolds, Slocan City; Muriel E. Fisher, Victoria; Barbara Boyd-Wallis, Duncan; Gladys I. Saunders, Duncan; Kathleen M. Clark, Victoria; Marie B. Daniel, Victoria; Alice B. Hart, Sidney; Amy C. Olsen, Victoria; Marion G. Victorian, Victoria; Esther M. Riley, Merritt, and Marjorie R. Guyer, Poole Coupe.

A musical programme which followed the arrival of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, was beautifully rendered by Miss Josephine Charlesbois, accompanied by Miss Berfoot, singing "Deh Vieni Non Tardar," Mozart; Mr. G. H. Hunt accompanying on the piano; and the organ on which she had learned to appreciate at St. Joseph's Hospital into the wide world. And whether employed in great cities, in isolated districts, at home or abroad, in the nursing profession or in the management of their own homes, the training received would stand them in good stead. His Honor asked the guidance and assistance of divine providence to enable them as nurses to add something to the fine traditions and ethics of nursing.

Archdeacon and Mrs. A. J. B. Dewdney of Sanction, who have been spending the winter months in southern California, returned to their home here yesterday evening by the Es. Ruth Alexander.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in his address, said of the ceremony that it was a source of pleasure at seeing thirty-two young nurses launched upon their career. It had interested him greatly to observe that they were not all British Columbia nurses, two from the south and one from Saskatchewan. He congratulated them and expressed the sincere hope that they would carry their splendid training and qualifications of the nurses for whom kindly and skilled ministrations there will always be room in the world.

ESTELLE TAYLOR SEEKS DAMAGES

Associated Press
Los Angeles, April 21.—Estelle Taylor told a jury yesterday she never hesitated to sacrifice her motion picture career when it conflicted with the plans of her former husband, Jack Dempsey, one time world heavyweight champion. Testifying against Frank Joyce, theatrical agent for injuries she received in an automobile accident sixteen months ago, Miss Taylor admitted she was under medical treatment at the time of her divorce from Dempsey, which was prior to the automobile crash in which she suffered a dislocated vertebrae. Miss Taylor's attorneys claim the injuries to her in the accident have seriously impaired her activities in the films. Joyce disclaims responsibility for the accident.

Social Service Reviews Year of Splendid Work

Annual Reports Presented Yesterday Evening Reveal Much Family Case Work Effectively Handled; F. E. Winslow Reviews Negotiations Towards Merger of League and Friendly Help; League Reaffirms Support of Amalgamation Principle

"To give and restore, as far as possible, independence and a normal life to individuals and families deprived of such blessings; and to that end to provide wise and sympathetic supervision; to assist in removing, and alleviating all kinds of family difficulties, and to give relief, employment, medical care and education." This extract from the articles of incorporation of the Social Service League are an index of the excellent work undertaken by the organization during the last year and reviewed in the comprehensive reports presented at the annual meeting held at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. Miss Sara Spencer, vice-president, presided in the absence of Ottawa's president, Reeve Crouch.

A total of 569 cases were dealt with last year, and in the 490 major case cases were 634 adults and 965 children, the general secretary noted in her annual report. "Relief budgets have had to be supplemented many times, and whereas formerly the league gave services to 370 families, the number has grown considerably and since 50 per cent of our cases were registered for relief with the City Welfare Office," the report said.

PROBLEMS PRESENTED

The problems presented by the cases coming within the league's purview were analyzed as follows: Illness and physical disability, 140; unemployment, 131; insufficient income, 78; personal and family behavior, 69; separation, 43; family desertion, 28; old age, 26; widow and dependents, 22; temperament, 18; poor nutrition, 17; illegitimacy, 15; non-support of family, 13; attitude producing conflict in the home, 13; legal entanglements, 15; immigration problems, 13; irregular sex relations, 12; mental defectiveness, 11; alcoholism, 10; orphans, 10; psychosis, 8; mental disease, 8; suicide, 6; death, 6; need for vocational guidance, 4; need of dental care, 4; imprisonment, 4; need of optical care, 4; bad housing, 3; inadequate parental care, 3.

PRACTICAL ASSISTANCE

In each of these cases every effort was made to readjust and remedy the causes underlying the trouble, the services rendered including: Income supplements, 73; advice only, 54; adjustments with other agencies, 46; clothing obtained, 53; church connections strengthened, 37; food obtained and deportation obtained, 23; medical aid and dental and optical, 34; legal aid and court action arranged, 22; institutional care, 20; employment found for, 19; connections with relatives, 17; assistance obtained temporarily, 12; assistance obtained permanently, 7; assistance obtained through the Canadian Red Cross, 7; families reunited, 7; removal to better quarters, 7; furnishings home improved, 5; training in home making, 4; nutritional care, 5; temporary shelter, 4; search for debtors, 3; educational guidance, education opportunities, 2; adoption, 2.

Twenty-five councilors were elected. These are: Mrs. B. L. B. Cooke, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Miss J. Crease, Mr. A. U. De Pencier, Miss E. Dobeson, Mrs. F. D. Donaldson, Mrs. B. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, Mr. J. Grossman, Mrs. Gilbert Hall, Miss Gladys Hindmarch, Mrs. J. C. Irons, Mrs. J. McKee, Mrs. Dallas Perry, Mrs. A. P. Procter, Mrs. G. H. Riley, Mrs. W. H. Rourke, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. D. F. Saunders, Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, Mrs. R. J. Sprott, Mrs. Frank Stead, Mrs. H. P. Swan and Miss Ilse Terry.

VICTORIA HEADQUARTERS

Victoria was chosen as headquarters for the next two years of the Provincial Chapter.

Reports of municipal chapters, including those at Vancouver, Victoria, Burnaby, Chilliwack and Prince Rupert, giving evidence that the ideals and aims of the order were not only maintained but that an added sense of the necessity of service and loyalty to the cause had been added, indicated by the financial depression, as well as the days of the Great War, were submitted.

The report of the organized secretary, Mrs. R. J. Sprott, further told of the wonderful spirit de corps and progress made during the past year. Donation boxes were held open to further efforts and many new chapters had been formed and old ones embued with new life. Mrs. D. F. Saunders read the report of the "Echoes" committee. Miss Ilse Terry, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $514.14, total receipts for the year being $5,068 and disbursements $4,581.

In addition financial assistance was obtained for 41 families; emergency service rendered to 42 families; fuel supplied to 85 families; 1,852 packages of seeds supplied to 26 families; seed potatoes supplied to 183 families; semi-monthly meetings to consider cases, the report noted. The volunteer group had given valuable assistance.

GUIDANCE CLINICS

During the year eleven clinics were held under Dr. W. A. Dobson of Vancouver. Sixty-six individuals were given help. Parents were advised regarding their children and in some instances institutional care was arranged. This service has proved its great value. After consultation with the Medical Association arrangements were made with Dr. Wyman-Pilcher, a member of the department of philosophy, U.B.C., to hold a clinic March 16 in Victoria. She gave guidance to five individuals and her reports have been forwarded to the nurses interested and advice given to the parents.

YOUNTHOUSE CAMP

The Sunshine Camp had again been held with much success, particularly among the younger children, 250 having been taken out for a much-needed holiday. The cost last year, exclusive of equipment, was thirty-four cents per day per person—this included laundry, water, food and staff. Food alone was twenty-one cents per person. Seven of the eleven cottages have been paid for by friends of the league.

The report of the organizing secretary, Mrs. M. Osborne, recalled the tale of Miss Snyder and Miss Sara Spencer in representing the league on the Women's Workroom, and the work done by the women of family relief.

The King's chef and cook, made by the King's chef and cook, made by small candles. Her sister, Margaret, now two and a half years old, was born at the same time as the King and Queen.

Among her other guests were her parents and her cousins, Viscount Lascelles and Master Gerald Lascelles.

It was a busy day at the Windsor Postoffice and extra help had to be brought in to handle the thousands of letters and parcels which converged on Britain's most beloved child from all parts of the world.

PRESENTER'S REPORT

The long-mooted merger between the Social Service League and the Friendly Help Association was reviewed in the annual report of Mr. Crouch, the president, which, in his absence, was read to the gathering by Rev. F. E. Winslow.

Mr. Winslow, chairman of the First United Church, and the following committees named: Refreshments, Miss J. Hattaway; Miss Adam Hunt and Miss Laura Tebo; programme, Miss Jessie Smith; Miss Gladys Marchant and Miss Edith Howell; flowers, Miss Pearl Moore.

At a previous meeting a request had been received to have a speaker chosen, and a report was therefore brought in by the committee charged with this task, with the result that the organization will in future be known as "The Golden Link Auxiliary," linking the older and younger missionary societies of First United Church and also a link between the church and the missionary work of the world.

The two layettes which are being provided for the mission hospitals should be handed in at the May meeting.

The guest speaker, Dr. Gung, missionary to the Chinese in the city, delivered a thoughtful address on "The Value of the Chinese Missionary." Miss Jessie Smith, Mrs. Marshall Neilan, director, and Miss Pearl Moore presented a resume of the third chapter of the study book "Our Foundation of Canada" by Dr. Oliver, which deals with the work of the church in the prairie provinces. Both speakers were thanked by Mrs. Henry Rice, who also welcomed Mrs. Gung to the gathering.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, who was assisted by the members of Mrs. Rice's circle.

BLANCHE SWEET BANKRUPT

Los Angeles, April 21 (Associated Press)—Sara Blanche Sweet, the who did not use her first name in the film, former wife of Marshal Neilan, director, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. She listed liabilities of $16,819.26 and assets as $200 in furniture and two life insurance policies.

Although the firemen will attend the ball themselves, no force this evening there will be no damage from fire in the city, as a regular shift will be on duty at the fire halls. Each year the men alternate so that the off shift can attend the ball.

The ball to-night is under the patronage of the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham-Johnson, Premier Tommie Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, Commander-in-Chief and Mrs. Victor Brodeur and Brigadier and Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown.

The demand for tickets measures up to preceding years, and with a large number of last-minute inquiries it is probable that a record crowd will make its way to the Empress Hotel to-night.

For the accommodation of those who have deferred action for some reason or another, the ticket committee has arranged to have tickets on sale this evening at the door.

In any event the crowd will be in the neighborhood of 1,000, but the firemen say they can take care of everybody.

For the supper, which will be a sit-down affair, the Tudor Grill and the Tower Lounge have been requisitioned in addition to the main dining-room.

Capt. Ziegler and H. E. Hunt are in charge of refreshments. Capt. Brindle and Mr. Woodward will act as masters of ceremony to-night. The reception committee will be Alderman Walter A. Luney (chairman), Alderman Alex Parker, Alderman J. D. Hunter, fire wardens: ex-Chief Vernon W. Stewart and Fire Chief Andrew Munro.

FLOWERS IN PROFESSION

Superintendent of fire alarm, R. Winter and J. Putney, are in charge of the decorations. The general scheme will be silver and blue, with fire emblems and special lighting effects, with masses of flowers.

The orchestra will comprise sixteen musicians under Al. Prescott. Other committee members are Lieut. C. used to pay for the operation.

Junior Missionary Society — The monthly meeting of the Victoria West Junior Missionary Society was held at the home of Misses Muriel and Eva Parker, with the president, Eva Parker, in the chair. The members greatly enjoyed the meeting, particularly Loring, who gave them an appropriate message on missionary work. During the evening a delightful solo was rendered by Miss Jean Robinson, and the evening came to a close by the serving of a buffet tea by Mrs. J. S. Parker.

No Calomel needed

When you feel blue, depressed, sour on the world, that's your liver isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels.

Digestion and elimination are being slowed up, food is accumulated and decaying inside you and making you feel wretched.

More bowel-movers like salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum, or root beer will not help.

You need a liver stimulant. Carter's Little Liver Pills is the best one. Safe. Pure vegetable. Sure. Ask for them in name. Price substitutes. 25¢ at all druggists.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Mothers who are going through a case of measles for the first time are often at their wits end as to what to feed the small patient. As usual, the doctor has said "something light while his temperature lasts" and milk has been the chief drink recommended. Orange juice, weak lemonade and plenty of water can be used with the milk diet.

As the fever leaves the small measles sufferer and the rash disappears, more foods can be used, but as long as the skin is rough all foods that might be irritating to the digestive tract should be avoided.

Even during the worst stages of the disease unless the child is very sick, junket and jellied milk can be used. In a day or so broth and gruels can be added to the list of foods.

DIET GRADUALLY STRENGTHENED

When the eruption is gone the diet is gradually brought back to normal as the child regains his normal health. Easily digested eggs and cereals, baked potato, cream soups, sifted, prune puree, custard, rice, gelatin, deserts with plenty of milk and orange juice can be served with good effect.

Vegetables should be added as soon as possible and a nourishing well balanced diet followed regularly.

The diet has much to do in bringing a child back to normal and preventing annoying after-effects during contagious diseases. An attack of indigestion or constipation along with the measles may require a doctor's care and a small boy working to eliminate abnormal conditions.

Milk is absolutely necessary and if the patient refuses it plain it can be made palatable for him in several ways.

One teaspoonful of sugar and a little cinnamon can be added to a glass of milk to change the taste. Nutmeg and vanilla offer two more flavors.

MILK CAN BE FLAVORED

One tablespoonful of lime water added to each glass of milk may aid in digesting meat and prevent an unpleasant taste after drinking that makes difficulty for some children.

Later cream soups and milk toast take care of the milk problem when the child won't drink milk.

Remember that "meals" are served every two hours when the patient is on a liquid diet, alternating milk in any of its forms with the other liquids.

When the patient progresses to the soft diet, three small meals with milk or broths mid-morning and mid-afternoon are given.

Uncle Wiggily's Surprised Wife

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"How do I look?" asked Uncle Wig-

gily.

"Fine," said Woodie. "Fine and dandy!"

"Well!" exclaimed Waddie, the other woodchuck boy.

"I hope I'm not too much swelled," said Mr. Longears with a laugh, as he tried to turn around to see how his back looked.

"Oh, you're just swell enough," said Waddie, as he and his brother stuck more red, blue and white feathers on the rabbit. Mr. Fox took feathers from the pine tree to fasten them on. "How do you like your new suit?"

"I think it's very nice," the rabbit gentleman answered, turning around and around. "It was clever of you woodchuck chaps to think of gummimg bird feathers on me to make me look like a gentleman. You boys have certainly done a good job."

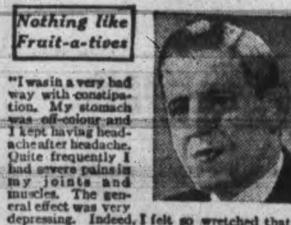

"What is that?" asked Woodie, as he stuck another feather from the tail of the Jay bird on Uncle Wiggily's left leg.

"I'm wondering what my wife will say," went on Mr. Longears.

"She threw a stick at him."

CONVENTION PLANS MADE

District Meeting of Rotary in Victoria May 21 to 23

Plans for the district convention of Rotary here on May 21, 22 and 23, were summarized to members of the local committee to-day by Percy B. Scurrah, chairman in charge of arrangements, when the clubmen met at luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Addressess of welcome by the local president and Mayor David Leeming and an address on "Service" by the Very Rev. C. S. Quaniton, Dean of Columbia, will open the function on the evening of May 21.

The sessions will start the next morning with a report from W. M. Glicker, district governor, on the work of the year. Murray Hill, Rotary leader from Kentucky, will also speak during the morning.

In the afternoon group meetings will be held at which various departments of Rotary work will be discussed.

Dr. E. Anderson of Eugene, Ore., will speak on "The World Court" at Tuesday morning's session. A special stunt will be presented by the local club and another address will be given before the actual business meetings close at 1 o'clock.

Ladies of Rotary will be entertained on Monday at the Crystal Garden with a varied program and on Monday evening the Rotarians will present a musical show stunt.

On Tuesday evening the governor's ball will be held. Wednesday will be devoted to golf.

All sessions of the male body will be held in the Empress Hotel.

REFRIGERATION AID DISCOVERED

Former Victoria Student, Dr. L. E. Howlett, Presents New Theories on Shipping

Scientific knowledge determined by Dr. L. E. Howlett, of the National Research Council, Ottawa, former Victoria College graduate, promises radical changes in shipping refrigerated farm products, particularly meat, poultry, butter and eggs, and will be of inestimable economic value to agriculturists and produce distributors.

Dr. Howlett, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Howlett, Amherst Street, was one of the first winners of the Kiwanis Club scholarship.

He has been before a gathering of distributors at the Toronto Terminal Warehouse recently, he put forward the point that substitution of humidity control for the present system of temperature control in handling refrigerated products was of exceptional importance.

Dr. Howlett, at the request of the federal agricultural department, has been engaged in making experiments in the laboratories in Ottawa and in the Terminal Cold Storage Warehouse, Toronto, to discover a method for overcoming "sweating" or extreme condensation that occurs in chillers and frozen products after they have left the cold storage chambers and before they reach the consumer.

The experiments arose out of extreme sweating that occurred in connection with a shipment of western poultry to the English market last fall. The sweating spoiled the appearance of the birds and when neglected resulted in the growth of must and mold. To change these conditions in order to preserve the best methods for Canadian production was the task given Dr. Howlett. He gave a practical demonstration that it was entirely a matter of "dew point" and the solution, he explained, was to raise the temperature of the product in air of water content percentage equal to or less than that of the storage chamber until it had passed the dew point of the new surroundings.

The chief point to be remembered, said Dr. Howlett, was that the sweating came from without and not from within. The process could be applied to all kinds of refrigerated products and would completely remove all sweating due to atmospheric conditions.

By this time we ought to realize we won't have to bank the curves on the road to prosperity.

Senator Fees says money will flow freely as soon as business revives. That's a great help.

Don't let Pimples or Boils Spoil your Looks!

IMPLES, boils and blotches disappear when you take that safe blood medicine and tonic which has enjoyed sixty years of success — namely Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Mrs. T. A. Berney of 645 Wellington St., W., Toronto, says: "About three years ago I had a bad case of boils due, I believe, to the condition of my food. I certainly was in despair as the boils were all over my face and I spent many a sleepless night because of these sores. I took only two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and the boils disappeared. I have had no return of these eruptions."

EDUCATION AWAKES TO FIGHT FOR ITS LIFE AND IDEALS

By FRANCIS RYLAND

H. G. Wells once said that civilization is a race between education and catastrophe. It is a remark pregnant with suggestive possibilities.

Thank goodness, organized education has at last wakened to the fact it has to defend itself from the reactionaries who seem to believe that only by "putting back the clock" there will be economic recovery.

For after all the only sure way of making progress is through education. James Harvey Hill pointed it out very forcibly in 1924 in his "Mind in the Making."

During the last year educationalists have tried to do some courageous thinking. They are beginning to realize that they themselves should be one jump ahead of the present social order so that they may effectively train those who will have to live in the future.

Says Glen Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin: "We move in the direction of analyzing the problems of public expenditures, the clearer it becomes that is not the scientific, social and educational services of the nation that are bending the American back." (This goes for Canada just as much.)

"We slash scientific research. We drastically shrink the support of social services. We hamstring our regulatory agencies. We fire visiting nurses. We starve libraries. We reduce hospital staffs. We squeeze education. And we call all this economy. How the gods must be laughing at us! And how our grandchildren will damn us!"

Of course, at the present time there must be economy in the administration of all public institutions—including the governing bodies themselves.

But "economy" the word so frequently used these days is really no stranger to a school master's vocabulary. He has, save in few instances, been practising it for years. During that time when other men had their feet—and snouts—in the trough.

Very little of the waste and extravagance in public life can be laid upon the doorsteps of the school teachers. Certainly none of the teachers.

It is well known that educationalists fight against economies they know to be false. And in the name of free public education and the real spirit of democracy, friends of education and parents are joining them.

Mrs. Chik-Wai-Leung, B.Sc., M.A., commissioner to investigate recent educational development in Canada and the United States has been visiting Vancouver, B.C.

She is to tell her that here there are hundreds of teachers out of work, though schools are overcrowded? Are we to tell her we are building no more schools though we need them badly, because our governments have no constructive remedy for our economic ills?

Mrs. Leung is particularly interested in vocational guidance—in home economics—in nursery schools such as they have in the States. She comes to us for help and advice.

Are we to tell her that such things are called "trills" here in British Columbia?

How ridiculous! She knows better. She has a trained and educated mind. A mind that is working to give her own country a better standard of living. She wouldn't believe us—and she is quite right to.

Here's luck to Mrs. Chik-Wai-Leung with her neat pretty figure, her quick graceful walk and her belief in the power of education.

COMPLAINTS BY LABOR COUNCIL

Civic Policies Criticized at Meeting of Local Trades Group

Complaints will be made by the Trades and Labor Council to the City Council against certain features in the administration, it was decided at a meeting of the trades group this week.

A committee will wait upon the city controller to voice the objections which have to do with the employment of an investigating officer in the relief department who has other sources of income, and with the action of the city in striking men entitled to superannuation from the payroll of the boulevard maintenance crews.

The relief office employee under fire received $100 a month from the city, $48 by pension and $58 from night school work, it was stated. Speakers said this was inconsistent with the relief policy which provides allowances going to persons receiving pensions.

SEEK TAX RATE OF 55 MILLS

Port Alberni Plans Drastic Cutting of Expenditures to Balance Budget

Port Alberni, April 21.—Unanimously their decision that the single tax rate of fifty-five mills on land shall not be increased this year, the finance committee of the Port Alberni city council brought down Tuesday evening what is considered the most drastic cut in the history of the city. Some $15,500 in estimated receipts in order to strike a balance, the finance committee plans to make up this difference by declaring a moratorium on sinking fund requirements for this year, amounting to $8,276, a reduction in some departments of $500, a reduction in the police force of $200, and a reduction in the street lighting appropriation of $1,500. This will mean a total saving, if effected, of $13,476, and will balance the budget.

This week a series of meetings are to be held by the city finance committee and the various departments and in the meantime the budget has been tabled pending these negotiations.

Mayor Warnock has expressed doubt that the police estimates can be further cut, and it has been done in the city hall, and further reductions are not being considered.

took the royal salute at the Armories.

With Commandant V. G. Brodeur, senior naval officer at Esquimalt. Major A. Selden Humphreys was A.D.C. to His Honor and headquarters officers attended.

TWO HELD FOR TRIAL

Seattle, April 21 (Associated Press)—Superior court charges were filed yesterday against Walter Moore, twenty-three, and Mrs. Betty Young, thirty-two, and each was ordered held on $10,000 bail as a result of the investigation of the alleged white slavery ring here which the prosecutor's office says has placed many young girls in the traffic. They were arrested Wednesday, and at first only justice court charges were brought against them.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS IN MISSISSIPPI FLOODS

Moving slowly southward, flood waters which recently hit scores of southern Ohio towns caused streams in the lower Mississippi valley to overflow their banks, inundating thousands of acres and rendering hundreds of persons homeless. This airplane view shows inundation at Webb, Miss., in the new flood area.

Marooned in their homes by rising flood waters of the Mississippi and Tallahatchie Rivers, many families in Mississippi were rescued by men in boats. This typical picture from the flooded area shows a rowboat drawn alongside a farmhouse to take off occupants perched on the roof.

THIS INFLATION-- BOON OR CURSE?

Savings, Bond and Insurance Holdings and Fixed Incomes Hit Hardest

By RODNEY DUTHER
(Copyright 1933)

Washington, April 21.—Inflation reduces the value of all money. That is why it affects every man, debtor and creditor, rich and poor.

Now, drop into the corner cigar store on the way home from work. Two men are talking inflation. One, Mr. PRO, is for it. The other, MR. ANTI, is against it. Their argument runs like this, and it runs about like this right on up to the Senate and the White House:

PRO: Well, I tell you, something's got to be done. The dollar is on the rocks. The dollar is so high, or crop prices are so low—it's just two ways of saying the same thing.

PRO: Well, if there isn't inflation, there'll be wholesale bankruptcies. She'll be better off at that.

ANTI: I don't agree. Deflation is a disease, and it's bad enough, but your currency would be worse than the disease.

PRO: One of the things it would help is to bring down wages. Our currencies that they can pay their help with their cheap money and ship their goods in here even over the tariff wall, at a profit. And we can't sell 'em a thing, because they can't afford to pay in our dollars.

ANTI: Sure, and when they find out how easy that is, and need more tax dollars, they'll just print more money and pretty soon the whole thing runs away with itself. Personally, I've been buying on my insurance policy for fifteen years. When it pays off I want to cash it in, put out more dollars, so he can pay his debts.

MR. ANTI: Got any money in the bank or in bonds or in life insurance?

PRO: Yes, got $500 in the First National Bank.

ANTI: As soon as they inflate the currency 100 per cent, you'll have to pay 100 per cent of what you can buy.

ANTI: That's what they say, and price rise, every dime you've saved in the last three years is cut just that much.

PRO: I laid away that $500 back in 1929. If you price rise 100 per cent, I'll still be where I was in 1929. They tell me my 1929 $500 is worth $665 in living costs right now, and $825 in farm prices.

ANTI: You're getting a good salary?

PRO: Well, I get $50 a week.

ANTI: I suppose you realize that if price is inflated 100 per cent, and prices rise that much, you'll probably get 100 per cent.

PRO: Well, my pay'll be raised in proportion.

ANTI: Oh, yeah?

PRO: Well, you aren't going to inflate the currency 100 per cent, anyway.

ANTI: That's just the trouble. You can't tell. They may not at first, but that's what they thought in Germany and Russia. And they went right on inflating until the whole thing bust. Suppose your farmer pay off his debts, and find they have to pay twice as much for his seed, fertilizer, labor, and taxes? Then what? More inflation.

PRO: No, I think it can be controlled. Besides, the business man stands to make money. He can put up his price the day money is inflated, to match. But he won't need to pay wages except as a gradual process. Big corporations with fixed charges like rent, taxes, interest, etc., will stand to benefit, because they will take in more dollars, and it will be easy to pay their interest and get rid of their debts.

ANTI: You're going to get their prices. Stationery and printing supplied if desired.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Rustle elimination" was the unique recording method which cropped up during filming of "The Secret of Madame Blanche" drama of 1890 and to-day, which is at the Capitol Theatre with Irene Dunne in the stellar role. This difficulty was encountered in shooting the ballroom scenes of the picture in which the women wore the long trailing gowns, fluffs and puffed sleeves popular in the '90's. The materials were necessarily of a crinkly, starched nature to keep the dress decorations in proper shape.

"The Secret of Madame Blanche" is based on the successful stage play, "The Lady," written by Martin Brown. Supporting cast: Irene Dunne, Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes, Una Merkel, Douglas Walton, C. Henry Gordon, Jean Parker and Mitchell Lewis.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Foster's rivel in his latest National comedy, "You Said a Mouthful," now showing at the Columbia Theatre made a record flight from Catalin Island, where the company was on location, to the North Hollywood studios and back, and incidentally saved the company a day's working time. Word was received by Director Lloyd Bacon that Foster was needed back at the studio for his picture retakes at the studio for his picture. Foster hopped off for the studios, a distance of more than fifty miles. He made the retakes that night, took a cup of coffee for a nap and hopped back for Catalin, reaching there to go to work with the company at 8 o'clock.

Helen Wills Moody Favors Holding Open Tennis Tournament.

Jack Dempsey Steals Big Jump on Madison Square Garden.

Golfers Should be Familiar With All the Regulations

Helen WILLS MOODY, for many years ranking woman tennis player in the world, has expressed her opinion on the open tennis tournament. "I think these open tournaments are fine," said she. "But there is one's complaint that he does not want to play against professionals. Helen's answer is that she sees no reason why an amateur should not play in an open competition. She has had some logic behind her complaints that an open tournament might entice many of the good amateur players into the professional field. The question is: Would that really be bad for tennis?

In golf we have an example of a game where there are a great many fine professional players. Some of these, notably Tommy Armour, Bobby Cruickshank, Denney Shute, and the "businessman" golfer, George Von Elm, begin to play as amateurs. It has not hurt golf to have the men turn professional. They have then followers and admirers; they talk, teach and boost golf. In many ways they have made the game popular with people who took up golf in a few years ago. While some regard the Bobby Jones is no longer an amateur, there is no question that he has done more to interest the average person in golf than any other man. In tennis the problem of professionalism should not frighten the amateur. As tennis grows there will undoubtedly be a greater number of players who will play for pay. In the end this will produce better tennis, and the methods of the finest pros will be studied by budding amateurs. Such study will be an aid to better amateur tennis.

Jack Dempsey who was a winner as a heavyweight fighter, seems destined to attain the same success as a promoter, and has already decisively out-pointed Jimmy Johnston. Madison Square Garden's matchmaker, battle for dates for the two heavyweight bouts, is on the horizon. Dempsey has the edge on the Garden and the Sharkey-Carnera title bout already, and will send Baer and Schmeling into action in the Yankee Stadium just twenty-one days before Sharkey and the Italian giant meet in the Garden's bowl.

The chances are that the battle of the Maxies will draw the title engagement because of the fact that Dempsey is behind it, and another colorful pair is in Baer, a handsome California with punching power and a willingness to fight. It took defeat at the hands of Sharkey to make Schmeling popular, and the German is much more highly regarded than the champion.

Seizing on the Nazi movement in Germany as an excellent boost for the ballyhooed Baer, his publicity agents have not time in finding a Jewish strain in their fighter. Their well-meant efforts were given somewhat of a setback by Baer himself when he told a group of sports writers that he was true, but that he wasn't sure whether it was on his mother's or father's side.

With major tournaments looming this summer, golfers should check up the rules. It is surprising that the number who are down to the fine print. In this regard an interesting tale is told of how failure to comply with rules cost Roland Hancock the United States championship in 1920. Hancock had the chance to make once in a lifetime glory, $100,000 beckoned as he stood on the seven-par four at Olympia Fields course. Two fives were needed, the holes were par fours. Hancock had played them two holes in par before.

The fairways were lined with spectators waiting to see whether the twenty-one-year-old could beat the veterans. Bobby Jones and Johnny Peden had died at 294. Golf's greatest terror, tension, already had Roland in its grip. There was a twitch in his knees as he swung, and the ball sailed into the rough. He looked at his ball resting on the ground, grunted. He selected his club, hit the ball and turned to dislodge it. The ball was half hit and with it went his chances for the title. Later Hancock learned that the crucial shot was from ground under repair. He could have lifted the ball and dropped it on the turf without penalty. He would have had an even chance to reach the green for par and the title.

Leading Aquatic Stars Compete In Event At Garden

Y.M.C.A., Crystal Garden and V.A.S.C. Clubs Lineup Strong Squads

CRAWL EVENTS FEATURE MEET

Tandem Races Expected to Prove Exciting; Complete Entry Is Announced

Strong combinations, particularly in the women's dual events, will challenge Archie McKinnon's Flying Y aquatic stars for supremacy in the Vancouver Island Swimming League gala at the Crystal Garden on Monday evening, it was revealed in the entry list today.

Lillian Stokes and Eleanor Peden, Crystal Garden team maids, who have upheld the honors of Colin McFadyen's club with distinction in their specialties, are teamed up for both freestyle and backstroke crawl events in the dual class. They should stand an excellent chance of taking the laurels in that section.

In the men's tandem races, Nancy Walker and Bob Smirl of the Y.M.C.A. appear the pick in the backstroke, while Walker, teamed with Don Davidson, should show up fairly well in the freestyle. Chris Usher and Dick Healy may come third in the later. They are figured an exceptionally good bet for success.

If McFadyen's last two swimmers in his girls' relays have come along quickly in the last two months, the Crystal Garden may also challenge in the 200 yards backstroke, while Lillian Stokes, Eleanor Peden, Beth Stewart, Gloria Wilson or Vernon Penderister may compete. For Y.M.C.A. the three Unsworth sisters, Ruby Davidson and Audrey Adam are considered to have the best chances of making the team.

Hubbell Playing Leading Role In Giants' Success

Southpaw Hurler Blanked Boston With Four Hits Yesterday in 1 to 0 Win

FOXX CRASHES TWO HOME RUNS

Helps "Lefty" Grove Beat Washington 8 to 1; Chicago Sox in Second Place

Give the New York Giants a few more pitchers like Carl Hubbell and they ought to create a lot of consternation among their rivals. The signs so far point to a highly successful season for the southpaw "screwball" artist.

The Giants have played three games; Hubbell has taken part in all of them and due largely to his efforts Bill Terry's team stands at the head of the class with two victories and a tie. Yesterday he blanked Boston Braves with four singles for a 1 to 0 triumph. Good pitching marked some extent by the other National League games, the Phils hammered out a 10 to 2 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs turn back St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 1.

PARK OF HOMERS

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, ranking southpaw of the American League, approached Hubbell's pitching form as he set down Washington Senators with four blows, while Jimmie Foxx led the Philadelphia Athletics to an 8 to 1 victory. Foxx found the range of the left-field pavilion for his first two homers of the season and drove in five runs.

Detroit errors ruined a fine pitching duel between Clint Brown of Cleveland and Vic Sorrell of Detroit and decided it 3 to 1 in favor of the Indians.

Chicago's surprise win, Sox move into a sole place behind the idle New York Yankees with a 5 to 4 victory over St. Louis Browns, their fifth triumph in seven starts.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, April 21.—Opening the American League campaign at Shibe Park yesterday, the Athletics led by the devastating bat of Jimmie Foxx, powered the Washington Senators to defeat for the second. Mack victory of the season. The score was 8 to 1.

Jimmie Foxx got two home runs to scuttle the Senators, hit a single with two on the bases in a big four-run eighth inning, and walked on his other time at bat to complete a perfect day.

Chicago, April 21.—Manager Lew Fonseca, aiming in the ninth inning with two out and Mule Haas on second, gave the Chicago White Sox a 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the second game of their series yesterday.

After Lloyd Brown, who went into the game—the ninth, retired the first two Chicagoans to face him in the ninth, Haas doubled to left and the manager did the rest. R. H. E.

The game was the local American League opener, and despite the cool and cloudy weather, a record first-day crowd of 25,000 visited the Municipal Stadium. R. H. E.

Cook Says He Is Far From Through

Saskatoon, April 21.—Absolute denial of the statement recently published in the eastern press stating that he was through with hockey and would now hang up his skates was given yesterday evening to the Canadian Press by Bill Cook, captain and right wing of the world champion New York Rangers and leading scorer in the National Hockey League.

Hill stated that he was a long way from being through with hockey and would be back with Lester Patrick and his New York Rangers when the 1933-34 National Hockey League season rolled around. "Pure bunk," was Bill's comment.

Where Do Men Get Their Ideas About Women?
Why Do Nine Men Out of Ten Believe That a Stupid Wife Is Easier to Live With Than a Bright One, and That All Women Are Born Cooks?

Men have a lot of queer theories about women that keep you wondering where they got them. For instance, men hold to the belief that if a girl hasn't any brains she is bound to have a sweet, amiable disposition and will inevitably make the kind of wife who yes-yes her husband and is dough in his hands. That is why morons can marry in circles all around college graduates.

A man is afraid to marry an intelligent, highly educated girl because he thinks that if she knows as much as he does she will insist upon being the head of the house and set her judgment up in opposition to his and generally hen-peck him. He thinks if he marries a little idiot who hasn't two ideas to rub together in her head that she will be meek and biddable and look up to him as an oracle and accept his word as law on every subject.

But the contrary of this is true. The more sense a woman has, the easier she is to get along with, the more self-control she possesses, and the more philosophy she brings to the exigencies of matrimony. An intelligent man knows how to make allowances for her husband's faults and peculiarities and doesn't make mountains out of mole hills. She gets his point of view and can see why a man who has worked to the point of exhaustion all day doesn't want to gad about of an evening. And when she and her husband differ on a subject she is open to argument and willing to be convinced if he is right.

But a fool is impervious to reason. She never changes her mind once she has made it up. She can never see any side of a question but her own and she is determined to have her way at all costs. It is the stupid women who are the viragoes. It is the women who never have a new idea who nag a man about a bad investment or the money he lent his brother forty years ago. It is the dull women who haven't vision enough to see beyond their noses who tie their husbands down to little jobs because they don't want to leave the village they know and mother and the girls.

Wise women help their husbands. Fool women ruin them. Yet low-grade intelligence continues to be an asset to a girl in getting a husband.

Men cherish the idea that rich girls are extravagant and wasteful, while poor girls are thrifty and economical, and that if a man wants a wife who will be a real helpmate to him he must pick out for a wife a girl who has always had to work hard and never had a second dress to her back. A man thinks that a girl who has always been accustomed to going to places of amusement and having pretty clothes and having money to spend will expect to continue the gay life after marriage and live in a style which he could not afford while the poor girl, never having had such pleasures, will not desire them and will be content to help him scrimp and save.

He forgets that it is the thing that we haven't had that we desire the most and that is the most alluring to us. Hence the girl who has had all the playing about that she wants, who has danced until her feet ache, who has been the round of amusements until they bore her stiff, is the one who is most willing to settle down when she gets married and finds all the diversion she wants in her own home. It is the girl who has had fine clothes all her life who sets the least store upon them. It is the girl who has always had money who has learned how to spend it most judiciously.

And it is the girl who has never had any fun who is pleasure-mad. It is the girl who has never had an imported frock or hat who is clothes-crazy. Many a rich girl who marries a poor man pinches every penny because his salary seems to her so small that she must conserve every cent of it, while the poor girl, married to a man who gets the same salary, will go on an orgy of spending because his pay envelope looks as big to her as the National Treasury.

Another superstition that men have is that all women are born knowing how to cook and are domestic by nature. Probably the greatest shock any bridegroom ever gets is when he finds out that Sweetums can't run a house as expertly as his mother does and that she not only doesn't know how to make bread, but loathes doing it, and that she prefers a mahogany desk to a gas range.

Probably the thing that most men marry for is to get a home. Assuredly having a home that is a place of comfort and order to which he can come at night after a hard day's work, secure of finding good food and a wife who loves his job, is part of every man's vision of a happy marriage.

Yet not one man in ten thousand ever finds out before marriage whether a girl can even boil water without scorching it or ascertains whether she regards housekeeping as a career or a chore or looks upon babies as angels or brats.

And queer still is man's idea that they possess some occult power as woman-tamers so that it doesn't make any difference what sort of unsuitable woman they marry, they can change her into what they want her to be after marriage. It is this quaint notion that makes highly educated men marry Dumb Doras, quiet men marry whoopie-makers, poor men marry spendthrifts and that fills the world with disgruntled husbands and divorce.

Queer the theories men have about women. I wonder how they get that way?

Thunderstorms

If you don't like thunderstorms, it served taking place during thunderstorms. In such case water is flying upward by currents of air rising at a speed of more than twenty miles per hour. Whirling winds cause the water to spin round and round.

At the start of a thunderstorm over the ocean, the surface of the sea bulges at one place or another; and some of the sea water may be carried upward. Most of the water in the "bulge," however, is fresh water, and before long it will come pouring down in the form of rain or brats.

Almost two-thirds of the thunderstorms which occur over land take place between noon and 6 o'clock in the evening.

It is too bad that men have not learned to make use of the electric power which goes to waste in lightning strikes. It is estimated that electric energy worth $500,000,000 is used up by lightning each day.

(For "Science" section of your newspaper.)

In some parts of northern Canada, thunder comes only once a year. In Central Africa it comes almost every other day. Weather records indicate that, counting all parts of the earth, there are 100 lightning flashes every second, and after each flash comes thunder which can be heard by anyone who is close enough to it.

These are the extremes.

In some parts of southern Canada, thunder comes only once a year. On the other hand I should not care to live on the island of Java, where they have thunderstorms on the average of 223 days each year. That would be too much in the way of heavenly music!

Winnipeg, April 24—(Canadian Press)—Sale of soft drinks in beer parlors is proposed in a bill to amend the Manitoba Government Liquor Control Act, which has been introduced and given first reading in the Legislature on motion of H. F. Lawrence, Labor, St. Boniface.

In many foreign countries a strange thing happens. Rain gives up instead of falling down! That is due to swift-moving currents of air. Warm, moist air near the ground rises quickly and takes water vapor with it.

When rain drops are swept high into the air they may reach a cold region where they are frozen into ice and later we see them come down in the form of hail.

YAKIMA PEOPLE SEE BIG METEOR

Associated Press

Yakima, Wash., April 21.—A ball of green fire flashing across the sky and exploding as it approached the horizon awed Yakima residents and many in various parts of the upper valley at 8:30 o'clock yesterday evening.

A rumbling which resembled two or three faraway explosions of dynamite followed, then a roar. Housewives said the walls of their homes shook slightly and dishes in cupboards rattled.

That they had seen a meteor was the opinion expressed by all. The path of the meteor was from south to north.

Says Wage Cut To Be Only TemporaryLord Says Greek Useless For Boys

Reuter's Special to the Victoria Times

London.—Lord Midleton has just given a new lease of life to the by this time old controversy: Should boys learn Greek?

His Lordship has very pronounced ideas on the subject. He declared at the Taunton School Old Boys' Association dinner in London, that the teaching of Greek was "completely played out."

"I believe," he said, "that the ordinary British boy who has to master mathematics and science and must learn Latin and French can afford to give Greek the go-by."

Greek is kept up by the University. The Oxford Dons voted the other day to continue Greek by a large majority. The Oxford undergraduates voted by a large majority for pacifism. If we could get some educational group at work on Oxford it might do a great deal of good.

"At most you can say, as was once said a century ago, there are still three reasons for the study of Greek. It enables a man to read the words of Our Lord in the original; it opens up opportunities of preference which are denied to men who do not know Greek; and it enables you to look down on your fellows from the proper elevation. I hope my humble protest may mean some day that my younger friends may be spared the tortures we had to undergo in learning something which is of no use to us . . ."

"We have to-day reserves of forces in this land unequalled by any country in the world. One cannot help thinking that whatever the difficulties of this country there is a public school system and the public school spirit which will come to help us through them." Because a man thinks first of all of his family, his house, his school, and his country, England has never failed to find men to pull it through in the hour of trial."

Love Breaks Girls Partnership

Reuter's Special to the Victoria Times

London.—Love has ended another business partnership. This time it is the partnership of two girls, both beautiful.

They are the world's two tallest mannequins—Miss Norah Terry and Miss Joan Saffelle—both of whom are 6 feet 2 inches tall and have been partners for five years.

Together they have traveled hundreds of miles, demonstrating British fashions. At present they are showing Yorkshire velvet and Nottingham lace in a West End showroom.

But Norah has become engaged, and so Joan is accepting a tempting offer from an American firm, and will leave for New York very shortly. Hitherto, the two girls have refused all offers—even the most attractive—from foreign firms.

The symbol of medicine, a staff with a serpent entwined, had it origin long before the time of Christ.

Senator Murdock Calls Railroads Claim For Lower Wages "C.P.R. Hard Luck Story"

Present Conditions Make It Impossible to Pay Wages Asked, Says Official

Montreal, April 21.—Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways are temporarily a 20 per cent reduction they sought to put into effect in wages of the running trades employees, George Hodge, head of the personnel department, Canadian Pacific Railways, yesterday told a board of the men, expressed surprise. The general chairman, he said, were under the impression the companies had been asking a 20 per cent reduction from basic wage rates. The word "temperament" he added, had not appeared on any of the company's communications, and the phraseology used had done nothing to sustain the idea the news would not be permanent.

The question came late in the day at the close of long discussions on briefs submitted by the men—engineers, firemen, engineers and railway telegraphers—in rebuttal of the railroads' statement given the board yesterday.

NOT FAULT OF MEN

Reuter's Special to the Victoria Times

Senator Murdock called the railroads' claims "the hard luck story of the C.P.R." The situation was not the fault of the men, he said. Had been asked to go beyond the bounds of most business institutions, and he filed a statement to indicate the capital undertakings the company had assumed here "premature or unnecessary."

Mr. Hodge, declared the railroads had asked if the depressed state of the board, asked if the depressed state of the economy had any effect on the wage rate. Senator Murdock replied the men were only too eager to be able to meet the companies' wishes, but their request they felt to be unfair and unwarrented.

The board is sitting again to-day.

Old Canal Boats Pickled For Years

Reuter's Special to the Victoria Times

London.—A boat, you would think, is the last thing that you could pickle successfully. But you would be wrong.

Numbers of old canal boats on the Grand Union and Grand Junction canals are being taken out of "pickle" in which they have been for the past twelve years.

After the war, demand for barges was small. So many of them had a thickness of felt and pitch, cased in boards of oak, laid within the skin of the hull. Then they were submerged in still water.

Canal boats can be "picked" under water in this way for twenty, thirty or even forty years, and will come up no worse—in fact sometimes they are better—than when they went down. The oak boards swell with immersion and pitch and felt preserve the wood-work.

Yet if the boats—which are built of elm or oak—are left exposed to the air without work, the wood would deteriorate and they would soon be useless.
